Instructor, Diesel Technologies

Are you a diesel technician looking for a change of pace? Teaching could be your next opportunity. You can use your industry expertise and knowledge to train the next generation of diesel technicians and give back to the industry that provided you with a rewarding career. Lincoln Land Community College (LLCC) is looking for a full-time Diesel Technologies Instructor to begin August 13, 2024. We are looking for industry professionals, no prior teaching experience is required. This position will train students for service technician careers in the agricultural, construction, and heavy truck repair industries.

This position includes teaching assigned classes, which may include teaching evening or weekend hours. This position will also include organizing and delivering class syllabi and objectives in a clear, concise manner; maintaining an organized and safe environment for our students in classrooms and labs; ensuring training aids, tools, and equipment are maintained and prepared for use in the classroom and labs; guiding and assisting students; keeping accurate records of student performance and making timely submission of academic records; providing students with timely feedback; maintaining office hours; participating in departmental/institutional operations and program review; creating a learning environment that fosters student success; developing, integrating, evaluating and reviewing student learning outcomes in support of the College's ongoing accreditation; and contributing to a collegial and collaborative work environment.

The Workforce Institute at Lincoln Land Community College consists of 6 full-time faculty and 6 program directors who are involved in the recruitment, departmental advising and the advising of various student organizations. The Dean, who reports to the Vice President of Academic Services, heads the Department.

As a faculty member at LLCC, you can look forward to working at an institution that values teaching and learning, supports faculty development, and encourages innovation and excellence. Full-time faculty members teach 15 credit hours for load each fall and spring semester with small class sizes and the potential to teach additional courses during the summer term. LLCC employs face-to-face, online, hybrid, and remote instructional modalities and offers courses in 16-week and 8-week formats. LLCC faculty, their spouse and qualified dependent children are eligible to use the tuition waiver on credited courses. Faculty can also enjoy free access to our on-campus fitness center. You can view all the benefits on our website. Come join our team and experience success at LLCC! Starting base salary is determined by education level and experience and will be between $41,444 and $71,514. Candidates with journeyman status may qualify for a higher starting base pay. Additional compensation beyond base salary can be earned through extra teaching assignments during the academic year and in the summer, as well as coordinator assignments. The College provides an excellent fringe benefit package and is supportive of faculty development.

< Associates – $61,318

Associates $43,625 – $64,542

Bachelors $45,922 – $67,939
